Even after death, some organs of the body can be preserved and stored. If these organs are donated, it might save somebody else’s life. The rate of organ donation has significantly increased due to the number of successful cases. Organ Donation is defined as the removal of organs from a body and transplanting it to a new body by surgical means. The requirement for new organs usually arises when a person loses an organ to some accident or stops functioning. Ex: Liver, Retina, Heart, Kidney etc... Organ transplant depends on the availability of human organs. Organ transplantation is the only way of saving lives of patients who have had terminal organ failure. A person can sign up and register for donating his organs. In this case, a person voluntarily consents to donate his organs after his death. After he passes away, the doctors remove the eyes and other organs that can be preserved from his body and stores them. These donated organs are used to help patients in need of organ transplantation. Also, if a person is declared brain dead by doctors, his family members can officially consent to donate his organs.

ANTI-TOBACCO DAY

- Speaker : Dr. Abhishek Talathi
- Time – 09.00 to 11.00 Am

Every year on 31st May is observed as World No Tobacco day throughout the globe with World Health Organization initiative (WHO). According to WHO, Nicotine contained in tobacco is highly addictive and tobacco use is a major risk factor for cardiovascular and respiratory diseases, over 20 different types or subtypes of cancer, and many other debilitating health conditions. Every year, more than 8 million people die from tobacco use. Tobacco can also be deadly for non-smokers. Second-hand smoke exposure has also been implicated in adverse health outcomes, causing 1.2 million deaths annually. Nearly half of all children breathe air polluted by tobacco smoke and 65 000 children die each year due to illnesses related to second-hand smoke. Smoking while pregnant can lead to several life-long health conditions for babies. Most tobacco-related deaths occur in low- and middle-income countries, which are often targets of intensive tobacco industry interference and marketing. This year's theme is protection of younger generations, focusing on "Protecting youth from industry manipulation and preventing them from tobacco and nicotine use". This year World No Tobacco Day highlights the tobacco industry's systematic and sustained efforts to hook a new generation of users. Creating awareness about the aggressive efforts of the tobacco industry to lure adolescents and young people to use their addictive and dangerous products is urgent. Adolescents and young people can be empowered to protect themselves if they understand the real intentions of an industry that wants to hook them on an addictive product just to increase and secure its profits despite the public health consequences.
