LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

To whomsoever it may concern:

With great pleasure I would like to recommend Dr. Yusra Memon in support of her application for admission into the Master's programme at your prestigious university. As the Reader and Head of the Department of the Public Health Dentistry, having mentored her for 4 years, I recall vividly how diligent and thorough she was in her journals, projects and cases submissions; thus I had an inkling that she would proceed to pursue a similar career path in the future. She has an extremely inquisitive mind, a quest for knowledge about subjects pertaining to public health, and possesses a strong desire to create a significant impact in the community through the wisdom and intelligence she would gain during this endeavour. My intuition proved to be true when she approached me for this recommendation letter and informed me that she has indeed been working as a member of the COVID taskforce in the public healthcare sector since the very beginning.

As a dental student, Dr. Yusra was remarkably disciplined and exceptional, owing to her punctuality, enthusiasm for research, and determination to achieve anything she set her mind to, well within her own time constraint. A case in point: when field visit was part of the curriculum, Dr. Yusra promptly took the lead and conducted a dental disease survey in a rural area by following core ethical values and also seized the opportunity to educate the school children about dental health. It goes without saying that she is naturally skilled at public speaking and a brilliant team player with a practice-what-you-preach attitude.

She is no less of a visionary and has the ability to create and communicate that shared vision for a positive future, thereby I trust that your MPH program will guide and aid her in attaining the required skills to identify and manage the existing health conditions in different populations.

I hope I have succeeded in my attempt to provide you with a little insight into her character and assure you that she will be an ideal candidate for this course as she will bring her unique optimism, passion and energy to your class.

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

As the head of Oral Maxillofacial Surgery Department at Yogita Dental College and Hospital, I, Dr.Kedar Vaidya with extreme pride and gratification would recommend Dr.Afshan Wakar Ahmed Dalvi for a position in your Dental clinic.

I have known her for 5 years and hence I can confidently discuss her skills and qualities. She has always actively participated in lecture room discussions and showed keen interest in learning various intricacies of latest technological advancements in dentistry. She proved to be an excellent student with the inquisitive mind and communicated her ideas clearly. Besides this, her ability to master new skills quickly after seeing the demonstration for once or sometimes with only an oral description has made her crucial in our practice, where we can rely on her judgments to provide effective treatment independently or without any supervision.

It was a moment of honor and dignity when she represented this institute in 31st Annual International Conference conducted by 'International Association of Dental Research - Indian Division' in D.Y.Patil University, Navi Mumbai. She reviewed various articles pertaining to 'Low Level Laser Therapy in Dentistry', compiled this information into an E-poster and presented it to the Jury members. I still commemorate that moment of joy and celebration when she was announced as the 2nd winner in this competition.

I can attest to her excellent character that can keep up with co-workers and work in collaboration if required. Hence, I assure you that if given an opportunity, she will work with great vigilance. I can assist further if needed.

Letter of Recommendation

Date: 20/11/2024

To whomsoever it concerns,

I take immense pleasure in recommending my student Ms Gauri Vanjari to pursue a Masters in Oral Biology at your esteemed university. Over the course of three years, I have supervised her in practicals, mentored her projects, and have overseen her enthusiasm in extracurriculars. Thereby, I attest to her calibre of creating a bright career in this domain.

During Ms Gauri Vanjari's pursuit of a Bachelor's in Dental Surgery, I have enjoyed imparting detailed knowledge to her batch. It was through this process of teaching and acquainting that I closely monitored her spectacular performance in academia and extracurricular activities alike. She has been a scholarly student with a keen interest and curiosity to learn. Her brilliant academic grasp was evident through her outstanding overall performance. She has always managed to keep her inquisitiveness alive in the light of science, which further delineates her fervency in this field.

Gauri has been efficiently equipotent in the theoretical concepts and the lab components. She has been able to carry out the practical implications of the subject matter precisely. During her tenure, she delivered multiple projects that have potentially exhibited her nuanced understanding of this versatile curriculum. Her proclivity towards research was substantially considered through a pilot study she undertook in my department, titled 'Comparison of Local Anaesthetic efficacy of Tramadol plus Adrenaline with Lignocaine plus Adrenaline for extraction of teeth under subperiosteal infiltration.' Through this research project, she implicitly demonstrated her rigorous knowledge of pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, drug interactions and administration of local anaesthesia with masterly dental extraction procedures. Her profound research skills were further exhibited through the second prize she was bestowed in a National Level Research Paper Presentation Competition.

Along with her significant endeavours in the educational department, she gained notable experience in the subject as an intern. Through this role, she brilliantly exploited the opportunity by practising various minor surgeries, namely, Dental Extractions, Alveoloplasty Procedures, Enucleation of cysts, Reduction of Fractures, Intermaxillary fixation, Administration of sutures and Removal of sutures.

She is also well versed in patient care and management, devising accurate treatment plans, and carrying out minor surgical procedures like orthodontic extractions. Moreover, she has made a remarkable contribution in the societal sphere by readily participating in dental camps and health talks, BP screening camp, cleanliness drive and raising funds for Helpage India.

Overall, Gauri has great technical competency that reinforces her operations. I am immensely impressed by her curiosity and conviction to pursue the programme of Masters in Oral Biology at your Esteemed University.
